

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Graphics are drawn with an input pen, which is provided with an optical sensor at its tip, on a display surface of an EL display. At this time, the EL display is caused to emit light in dot sequence, and the position of the input pen is detected as coordinate information on the basis of timing of light emission of the EL display and timing of light emission detection of the input pen.